

Does the buyer have the authority to sell the property or apartment? If so, when?

---

If it is a ready-now property, the buyer has the authority to sell and can do so immediately. If it is an off-plan property, the buyer has to consult the developer, as some developers allow resale of property only after a certain number of installments have been paid.